

WISHING INSTRUCTIONS

It's important to know it is not magic, but God at work in your life making your hopes, dreams, wishes and prayers manifest into reality. Most of the time wishing comes easy for me. Most of the time everything appears to magically work for me. But it wasn't always that way. This is something I've had to cultivate over a number of years. When I first discovered that my wishes were coming true, I tried to figure out what I was doing right. I then came up with the steps that I outline herein:

1. You must wish for everyone what you wish for yourself.
2. The thing you wish for cannot belong to another. If you envy someone something, then wish for something just like what they have, but never the very thing they have.
3. Remember you cannot wish something bad on someone else. It will revert back to you and you will find that very thing happening to you.
4. You cannot wish for someone else to love you, but you can wish to be the kind of person that sort of person would love.
5. You must be very specific with your wish. Write it down, and revise it until you get it exactly right.
6. Put your wish away in a safe place and forget about it. Don't tell anyone else what you have wished. Keep it a secret so that it will not be diluted by negativity. I keep my wishes tucked into my Bible, or in a jewelry box.
7. Always say "Thank you" both before and after you've made your wish. Thank you is not just being polite, but it is an affirmation of your wish, insuring it will come true. Then trust that your wish will come true... leave it alone until it appears.
8. Wishing is a big responsibility, don't take it lightly.
9. Be very careful what you wish.
10. Remember sometimes everything in the world has to move over just a little before your wish can come true.
11. Remember that when two people make the same wish it almost always comes true.
12. When you make your wish for yourself be prepared for it to come true. Circumstances will begin to occur which may frighten you. Changes will happen. Opportunities will present themselves to you, and you must be prepared to act upon them immediately.
